

WANT GUARD AS FIRST LINE OF CITIZEN ARMY

The views and opinions of that body of men in the nation who during a period of more than a quarter of a century, have devoted their time and energy in the National Guard, to the development and maintenance of such a force.

"This association pledges its support to any reasonable increase in the regular army that may be recommended by the president of the United States as in his judgment necessary for the better national defense and pledges its best efforts to secure the enactment of such measures into law. Must Have Larger Force.

The committee is of the opinion that the training and development of a larger force for national defense is imperatively necessary. For years this association and the National Guard have been working for legislation which will make the organized militia a federal force in time of war. As there is some question as to whether the legislation now on the statute books and other proposed legislation accomplished this result without a constitutional amendment, the committee recommends that Congress propose such an amendment to the federal constitution as will make the organized militia effective for service both within and without the continental limits of the United States, upon exactly the same terms and conditions as the regular army can by law be used, granting to the Congress the right to prescribe the discipline, equipment and training thereof, reserving to the several states the control of their forces in time of peace, the appointment of the officers thereof in accordance with a uniform system to be prescribed by the Congress, and the organization, location and arrangement of the units of the same.

"We recommend that the National Guard use its best efforts to have such amendment passed by the Congress and ratified by the several states at the earliest possible moment. Pending the ratification of such amendment we ask that Congress enact a law embodying the principle of federal compensation to the National Guard as a return for its assumption of the contractual duty of federal service and its services in preparing therefor. Expect Force of 200,000.

"This step taken, there will be such an increase in the forces of the organized militia that the nation will have an immediate dependable and trained force of not less than 200,000 men as the nucleus from which to expand as necessary may arise. We believe that the National Guard can be so developed, that by reason of its continuous instruction throughout the year it will produce a greater state of military preparedness than can be obtained by citizens in any other way. We call attention to the fact that the National Guard possesses the facilities and means for carrying on such training, through its armories and rifle ranges and the continued regularity of control and instruction, which should be done in strict accordance with federal requirements.

"We emphasize the fact that the National Guard of the United States, now organized and equipped, is composed of officers and men whose first thought of service is for the nation and if not so available under existing constitutional requirements it cannot be too speedily made so, in order that the National Guard may properly discharge the duties for which its members have enlisted.

"We are of the opinion that the development of the National Guard along the lines suggested would give us at once a strong first line and the first proportion of the quota of any organized force that may be required for the national defense and that both its personnel and as an institution it is entitled to and should receive such preference.

"We believe that state pride and state officers make the best possible argument for recruiting; and that a force raised by that method would be in harmony with the traditions of the people in the various localities, because just regard must be had at all times for the sentiments and prejudices of the people of the various states with regard to the forces to be armed, equipped and trained within their borders.

"We therefore recommend the following:

"First, that this association approve the increase in the regular army as recommended by the president of the United States.

"Second, that this association recommend the adoption by the Congress and ratification by the states of such an amendment to the federal constitution as will make the organized militia of the United States available for federal service, within or without the continental limits of the United States to the same extent that the regular armies of the United States are by law available, granting to the Congress the right to prescribe the training, discipline and equipment thereof, reserving to the several states the control of their forces in time of peace, the appointment of their officers in accordance with a uniform system to be prescribed by the Congress, and the organization, location and arrangement of the units thereof, and providing for the organization of a federal militia in any state or states in which an organized militia shall not be maintained by the authorities.

STARS OF TENNIS IN AMERICA ARE TO APPEAR HERE

come to Honolulu, is one of the veteran noted figures in the tennis world. His first play in 1901 was the sensation of the tennis field, and with Ward he won the doubles title that year. In 1904 Wright annexed the title again with Ward. Wright was at the height of his career in 1905 when he won the national championship from a field of stars. Tennis critics state that his play of that year was the greatest in a decade, and many of the tennis devotees have often expressed the wish to witness a match between Wright and Johnston. The two stars have never met in competition, and should Johnston decide to come, local tennis followers will have the first opportunity of watching the champion of 1905 and the champion of 1915 in match play.

Wright again won the singles championship in 1908, and with Little, also annexed the doubles title in the same year. Wright has represented the United States in the Davis cup matches on two occasions with credit. He has been one of the leading spirits in advancing tennis play to its present stage, and will be a welcome addition to the stars who have played on local courts.

Mr. Castle also has received a letter from William Johnston stating that he would make every effort to be here in February. Johnston has stated that he would like to return to Honolulu this year, and there is hardly a question but that the local tennis lovers of tennis play will see the national champion in action against the other stars.

Tennis devotees in the city were very much pleased to know that Wright would come here, but with the announcement that Griffin and Dawson would play there is certain to be added interest in the court game. The tournament will begin on February 17, and the finals in the singles are expected to be played on February 21. According to the present schedule the doubles finals will be staged on Friday or Saturday of Carnival week.

NEW SURVEY OF WATER WILL BE TERRITORY-WIDE

Commission Named By Governor Meets and Organizes For Work

Organizing for its important work, the territorial water commission met this morning in the attorney-general's office, named officers and laid out an outline of work.

The three members are G. K. Larison, territorial hydrographer and head of the water resources branch, U. S. geological survey, in Hawaii; T. F. Sedgwick, the territorial water expert of the territory and city and county; and Deputy Attorney-general A. G. Smith.

Mr. Larison was named chairman; Mr. Smith secretary, and three committees were appointed to gather data. Larison will look after surface water matters; Sedgwick underground waters and Smith legal information.

The work of this commission does not at all conflict with the city water investigation commission or other territorial bodies. The commission is the result of a movement in the last legislature to conserve water more efficiently. A bill introduced at that time, giving the superintendent of public works large powers, was considered too drastic and was killed. Instead, a bill was passed empowering the governor to name a territorial water commission, which is to report back to him before January 1, 1917, and present a draft of such legislation as may be deemed necessary. Especially is the commission supposed to look into the laws of the territory relative to control of water.

PURPLE STAR IN FACE OF CLOCK GLOWS OUT AT 11

The Elks will be hosts at an entertainment and dance at the Odd Fellows' hall on Thanksgiving eve. A number of novel features have been planned for the occasion and during the intermissions vaudeville acts will be staged. The committee on arrangements has announced that the dance will begin at 9 o'clock.

Members of the Raymond Teal Company now appearing at the Elton theater will be the guests of the Elks for the evening. Among the features planned are musical selections and acts by local and professional talent. The invited guests will be given badges at the dance and all who wish may visit the club rooms at any time during the evening. It is planned to hold a buffet supper in the Elks' club after the dance, at which time there will be jinks by the members.

The big feature of the evening will be the presentation of the Elks' clock by Exalted Ruler Charles J. McCarthy. The presentation will take place at 11 o'clock in the club rooms. A young lady has been selected to unveil the clock at that hour when the members will give their usual toast. The clock is unusually distinctive, and is said to have cost $550. It is built in the fashion of the old-time clock, and is figured in rich mahogany. The case stands seven feet eight inches high, and the dial embodies the Elks' emblems, the elk's head and the purple star.

The clock strikes every hour and chimes the Westminster chimes every hour until 11 o'clock. At the first stroke of 11 p. m. the purple star in the upper section of the dial is illuminated by electric lights and remains so for five minutes. After striking eleven there is an interval of fifteen seconds when the clock automatically plays on sweet-toned tubular chimes a stanza of "Auld Lang Syne."

AUSTRIA WEARY OF CENSORSHIP; EAGER FOR NEWS

BUDAPEST, Hungary.—A systematic campaign of opposition to the censor is being waged by the newspapers of Austria and Hungary. A memorandum to the prime minister, signed by publishers and editors, points out that the newspapers existed during the first year of the war under a milder censorship and succeeded in serving the country worthily and patriotically.

Is it not then unjust," they ask, "that an increasing number of restrictions should be applied daily? The newspapers are tired of being allowed to speak only of city authorities and fraudulent army contractors, and seek the restoration of the small freedom which they enjoyed in pre-war times."

Since the war, it is stated, 37 Hungarian newspapers published by Czechs, Slovaks, Slavs and Rumanians have been suppressed.

Ireland sent out 236,314 emigrants last year, a decrease of 10,053 from the previous year and the smallest number in any year since 1890.

FRESH ARRESTS RESULTING FROM ALLINGTON RAID

Warrants Issued for Two Gamblers With Many Aliases; Postpone Boyle Case

Warrants for the arrest of R. Gardner, known here as R. Johnson, and C. L. Watson, also known as Spencer, were issued this afternoon at the request of Chief McDuffie of the detective force, the men being charged with gambling.

Johnson was the owner of an outfit for loading dice found in his room at the Graystone hotel Wednesday night after the detectives raided a game in the New Allington hotel, and Friday in the police court paid a fine of $300 and costs. Spencer was one of the men in the game, and was fined $50 and costs.

Spencer stated in court that he was a member of the 105th Company, Coast Artillery Corps, stationed at Fort Ruger. Today an officer of the 105th Company said that there had been a man named Spencer in that company, but he had been discharged. Johnson will be charged this time with being a participant in a game played at the Chinese camp near Schofield Barracks some weeks ago, in which he is said to have cleaned up more than $400, and may also be charged with being in a game played on Pacific Heights by the light of the lamps of an automobile, when he is said to have won $200. Spencer will be charged with taking part in another game here.

McDuffie and Prosecuting Attorney Chillingworth state that they will have a number of witnesses present to testify against the men when the cases are called, and in these cases and the case at present pending against James E. Boyle, manager of the Paradise at the Pacific, several men who are well known here will probably be summoned as witnesses.

Boyle, who is evidently going to fight the case against him, appeared this morning, and Johnson and others who were in the game, were present to testify in Boyle's behalf, but the case was continued by request of the prosecution until Tuesday, November 30. When the case is called it is said Boyle will have a number of men present to testify that he was not in the game, and the prosecution will have on hand an equally formidable array who will insist that Boyle was one of the players.

NEW CHARITY WORKER HERE FROM PEORIA

Fall weather as beautiful as it is generally villainous there, has been the rule in Illinois, at least down to November 11, the date he left, according to Edgar E. Brooks, the Associated Charities' new manager, who arrived this morning on the Wilhelmina from Peoria, Illinois, his last position, today.

"We certainly had grand weather all this fall in Illinois," he remarked.

"It was a continuous Indian summer down to the time I left Peoria, on November 11. We did not even have fires in the stoves. Your weather here, however, seems to be as fine all the year as it is in the Middle West once in a while."

Mr. Brooks said he could not outline his plans for the work here until after he has made a survey of local conditions, and talked over the situation with J. R. Galt, chairman of the Associated Charities' board of directors here. The new manager said that prior to his work in Peoria, he was connected with the New York Charity Organization Society. He stopped in San Francisco and saw the exposition while waiting for his steamer.
